

They say flying is dangerous but I'm not sure about it. All things are relative. Yesterday a beat-up Model A roadster pulled into the curb on South Walnut street and disgorged — count 'em — 12 high school kids.

Reciprocity is a two-way street — it exchanges brickbats as well as favors. Out in the state of Washington the florists are mad because the newspapers, whenever the bereaved family requests it, include in the funeral notice the remark, "No flowers." Therefore, the florists are talking about a law to bar advertising. Well sure enough, life's no bed of roses for a newspaper.

Grocers, says a trade note, wish men did all the buying. A survey reports that 68 per cent of husbands do shop at least once a week, and when they do 82 per cent of these male shoppers buy things that their wives don't. They buy expensive, long-profit items like caviar, canned crab, lobster, giant olives, mushrooms, and anchovies.

That last word — anchovies — it reminds me of something. One of my Hope friends was a famous eater of sardines. He was always buying better-grade sardines, which, being imported, come under strange names. One night he said he wanted me to try out a couple of cans of a new brand, which he had already sampled. I looked at the cans — and told him they weren't sardines — and told him anchovies.

"Well that explains it," he said: "I thought they were the darned sardines I ever tasted."

It just goes to show what happens to a man who goes shopping.

The Case for U. S. 67

The cities and towns along U. S. 67 from Benton to Texarkana have a clear case of misrepresentation against the State Highway Commission for its recent statement as to the best routing of Southwestern traffic through Arkansas.

An official announcement said that owing to bad paving on U. S. 67 an alternate route was recommended beginning at Benton and running through Hot Springs, Glenwood, Murefreesboro, Nashville, Mineral Springs, Ben Lomond, and Ashdown, rejecting U. S. 67 at Texarkana.

Gazette Is Cleared in Guild Strike

Washington, April 29 (AP) — The Arkansas Gazette has been exonerated of unfair labor practice charges in the CIO American Newspaper Guild strike against the Little Rock morning newspaper.

An NLRB trial examiner last night recommended dismissal of the union's complaint against the Gazette.

Frederick B. Parkes 2nd held that "the strike of the editorial employees was economic in nature, as was the strike of the circulation employees, and that neither strike was caused or prolonged by any unfair labor practices on part of the respondent (Gazette)."

Twenty-three news room employees of the paper struck Dec. 17, 1948, after three months of unsuccessful negotiations on a proposed contract. Inability of the union and company to agree on a dismissal clause brought about the walkout, which dissolved about 18 months ago. It was the first strike by editorial employees against an Arkansas newspaper.

The governor, an active candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, thus put himself so flatly on record against some of the positions taken by Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio as to raise doubts that he ever could support Taft if the Ohioan won the nomination.

Soviet Jets Fire on Civil Plane Over Germany

Two Passengers Hurt, Protest Is Lodged

Berlin, April 29 (AP) — Two Soviet jet fighters fired on an Air Force plane in the Russian zone of Germany today, wounding two German passengers and leaving 89 bullet holes in the fuselage.

The plane landed safely at Tempelhof Air Base.

The Air France office in Frankfurt identified the wounded as Mrs. Irmgard Nobel, Frankfurt, hit in the abdomen, and Walter Kurth, Bad Homburg, wounded in the arm and thigh. They were taken to hospitals.

Allied officials in Bonn at once temporarily canceled all flights of Allied civil aircraft into Berlin.

The U. S. High Commission said an official protest also had been made to the Russians at the four-power air traffic control center in Berlin.

Air France said there was a total of 11 passengers on the plane, none of them American. The aircraft, a four-engine DC-4, was on its regular run from Frankfurt to Berlin through the air corridor established by four-power agreement.

The decision reversed its previous order which had a proved rates to be charged for government power used by the plant, but limited approval to five years.

Reynolds had rejected the five-year clause as "wholly unacceptable" and an increase in maximum rates was the compromise that brought about final agreement.

Arkadelphia Plant Gets Okay Sign

Washington, April 29 (AP) — An increase in maximum charges for government electricity was the compromise that paved the way for federal Power Commission approval of a power contract for a new aluminum plant in Arkansas.

The Power Commission yesterday approved a 30-year power contract for the 35 million dollar plant that Reynolds Metals Co. plans to build near Arkadelphia, Ark.

The decision reversed its previous order which had a proved rates to be charged for government power used by the plant, but limited approval to five years.

Reynolds had rejected the five-year clause as "wholly unacceptable" and an increase in maximum rates was the compromise that brought about final agreement.

GOPs Differ on Foreign Policy

Washington, April 29 (AP) — There was ample evidence today that Republican leaders are far from agreement on foreign policy.

Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin called on GOP colleagues in the Senate yesterday to support the administration's foreign policy in Europe.

But, asserting that Republicans weren't consulted about Asiatic policies, he proceeded to attack some of them.

On the other hand, Gov. Earl Warren of California voiced general approval of some of the Truman administration's actions in the Far East.

The governor, an active candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, thus put himself so flatly on record against some of the positions taken by Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio as to raise doubts that he ever could support Taft if the Ohioan won the nomination.

U. S. Attorney Backs Down on Truman's Power

Washington, April 29 (AP) — The treasury today revamped its entire multi-billion-dollar savings bond program, raising interest rates all along the line.

Sale of two of the current series of saving bonds — F and G bonds — will be discontinued effective Thursday. But three new types of bonds will be offered.

The familiar series "E" defense bonds — the type held by most individuals — will be continued. But interest rates for the full period of the bond will be raised from 2.9 per cent to 3 per cent.

And buyers will get a much bigger increase in interest rates over the first few years they hold the bond.

The changes will not affect "E" bonds already sold unless the bondholder wants to keep his bond after it matures. In that case, he will get the new interest rate of 3 per cent.

Pine's Ruling May Come Late Today

Washington, April 29 (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee called in Charles E. Pine today to tell under oath "the inside story" of why he quit as defense mobilizer in a row over administration handling of the steel dispute.

The committee is conducting its own investigation of the steel case, with a view toward possibly drastic revisions of the Defense Production Act, which forms the basis for price, wage, rent and credit controls and the rationing of materials to the steel industry.

Court attaches looked for the decision today, but said it may come until tomorrow. Judge Pine has devoted full time to deliberating the issues since he took the District Court controversy under advisement last Friday.

The House Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, met to consider a batch of Republican-sponsored proposals for Truman's impeachment or censure for the seizure action. GOP members pressed for a showdown on the proposals.

Steel firms brought the court case seeking an injunction for return of their property. Truman placed the mills under government control April 8 when CIO steelworkers threatened a nationwide strike.

The issues before Judge Pine were whether the steel companies were right in their contention that Truman lacked legal authority to seize their plants, or whether the President was right in claiming both the power and duty for his action.

Government officials awaited Pine's decision before ordering a wage increase for steelworkers into effect over the industry's objections.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer nominally in charge of the seized industry, was expected to notify steel firms today they may apply for an average $3-a-ton price increase if they wished.

In a Senate speech, he said the reductions were allowed by permitting contributors to write off unreimbursed campaign loans as bad debts.

Utah to Give State Slayer a Hearing

Washington, April 29 (UP) — Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del) said today the Treasury has allowed large contributors to the Democratic party to write off "campaign contributions" for income tax purposes.

In a Senate speech, he said the reductions were allowed by permitting contributors to write off unreimbursed campaign loans as bad debts.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer nominally in charge of the seized industry, was expected to notify steel firms today they may apply for an average $3-a-ton price increase if they wished.

That is the limit the government says steel prices can be raised under stabilization rules. The industry says $3 is inadequate to pay for 26-cent-an-hour, over-all cost.

These questions are being explored by a 20-year-old social pioneer named Barry Garfield who is trying to correct a mistake made by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell 75 years ago.

"He invented the telephone," remarked Garfield, "but he neglected to teach people how to use it."

With some 35 million telephones now ringing more or less steadily, Garfield thinks it is high time individuals should realize that the proper use of these little gadgets can help them win or lose social or business success. He also believes corporations fail to appreciate how telephone techniques can be used to advantage.

Garfield is writing a book on how to use the telephone and trying to get the corporations and institutions to use it more effectively.

It is the study of the economic and social aspects of the telephone and its use by individuals and companies as a business and social

Man Arrested for Leaving Scene of Accident

City officers today arrested D. B. Russell on a complaint of leaving the scene of an accident early last night near Yerger High School.

Officers Pedron and Burke were called to the scene and were told by several witnesses that an auto driven by Russell collided with another owned by E. N. Glover.

When they arrived Russell was not around. Only minor damage resulted.

Russell, involved in a fight several days ago, had just recently been released from a local hospital.

In another "accident" yesterday an auto driven by Johnny Ceary of Stamps collided with one driven by Ken Kennedy of Hope, on Front Street near the depot. Minor damage resulted.

Round Foolish

by ROBERT MOLLOY

CHAPTER FORTY
"Well, look, Heloise's remark concerning Lincoln Calvert certainly was right," she said. "She'd think I was a fool, wouldn't she? And well, until he asks me to marry me, I suppose he does—and I include him being a Catholic, he isn't doing it out of consideration, would he? And that wouldn't be right."

"You certainly learned to Argue that college," Heloise said. "But supposing he asked me to marry him, would you—well, or would you insist upon the church ceremony and the children being baptized in the Catholic?"

"I suppose I would."

"Well, I am disappointed," Heloise said. "I really think he's better for you."

"Well, Uncle is going to insist about that if he married Miss Antonia."

"I don't think he would have."

"Well, I'll be a lesson to you, you'll always keep you on a tight string, or you'll wind up knowing what I think!"

Lincoln comes from a good home, he probably has given in to Miss Antonia that one of the new ideas is to go to college."

"I think," Heloise said.

"I must be a lot better for you," she said.

"I hope you'll understand that I did not think this worth it. No doubt this young man will be in your hands."

"The Calverts have always been famous for doing just what they wanted them to do."

"They are independent," Leonie said. "I am sure of that. And I am sure that they are independent."

"And I am sure that he is pretty obstinate. I think, if he really was in love

he would do anything I wanted."

"Really very good-natured. You know, Auntie, he tries to put on a show of being very self-centered

but he's very concerned, for instance, the way he cares for things for the poor and the way the wings are broken through the back of his horns," Heloise remarked.

"And think his horns are broken right through the top of his head, you don't understand how our generation feels about culture," Heloise said. "It's a young man and he isn't enough!"

"Leonie said, giving," Heloise said, and then seeing the incredulous expression in Leonie's eyes, she cut short the discussion. She felt herself weakening and she did not want to come out against Heloise.

"Good afternoon, Julie," said
Miss Susan. "And how are you?"

"Oh, Miss Julie, how are you?" said Miss Susan, guardedly, for she remembered cutting the other's comer not very long before.

"I've just begun to go out," Miss Susan said plaintively. "You haven't been to see me, Julie."

"Nobody told me anything about it," Miss Julie lied politely, "or I'd been the first to come."

"Things go on right under your nose and you don't know about them," Miss Susan continued. "It makes you feel kind of out of things. If I hadn't read in the paper that Sidonie Pinchot had died, I wouldn't have known."

While Leonie was getting her hopes up, and Heloise was fretting over the relentlessness of fate, Miss Susan Williams, that fount of derogatory information, was preparing to publish the biggest scoop of her career. Miss Susan's journals were still severe, and under ordinary circumstances she would not have ventured out, but with this news in her grasp she could not wait for people to come to see her.

Her first visit was to Madame Pugno, the not-too-popular president of the ladies' sewing circle at the cathedral.

"I wish," Miss Susan said to Madame Pugno, "that I had the moral courage to tell Henri Lemay and Heloise about it. But I was always shy about carrying tales."

I don't suppose it's any of my business, either, but when I see a young girl whose family are intimate friends of mine being let down!"

She wagged her head dolorously.
When Miss Susan had built up the story a bit she decided to attack Julie Gerard about it. The fat old lady had insulted her because of an innocent question concerning the sanity of her late sister Tessie, who, as everyone knew, had been stark staring mad. Miss Susan now felt that telling Miss Julie this news at first-hand would give her a moderate amount of satisfaction.

She did not intend to visit Miss Julie, for she wanted the meeting to seem casual. She knew the other's haunts—the ten-cent store, certain German grocery stores where delicacies were for sale cheap, and the soap premium store, where Miss Julie was inclined to look in now and then to see what she could get for the wrappers she collected.

Cruising between these points, Miss Susan was soon rewarded by a sight of her old acquaintance ambling contentedly down KING of wage increases and other benefits recommended by the government's Wage Stabilization Board.

The 18 Republican members of the House Judiciary Committee were represented as solid in their demands that the committee take some action today on the proposals to impeach Truman or at least censure him.

Chairman Cellier (D-NY) would make no predictions on the outcome. He said the announced decision of the Republicans to stick together in their demand "shows that they are playing politics with something that should not be a partisan matter."

Three of the 10 proposals before the committee are impeachment resolutions, the latest having been introduced yesterday by Rep. Shiner (R-Mich.). The others range from demands that the steel plants be returned to their private owners to protestations of a congressional disapproval of the President's act.

Then the steward came into the pilot's compartment and said we had just been attacked from the rear. He said a cannon shell had just exploded into the plane and wounded a passenger.

The steward ordered the passengers to lie down on the floor. They did so and there was no panic at all. These two fighters made four passes at us, maybe five, and they fired away with cannon and machine guns during each pass.

The whole attack lasted no more than four minutes.

After the steward came into the report, Co-Pilot Robert Le Paute went back into the plane to see the passengers.

If it had not been for the cloud we would really have been in trouble.

Passengers. While he was gone bullets went through his seat in the cabin. If he had stayed in it he would have been badly wounded.

As soon as I realized I was under attack I radioed Tempelhof the news and dived for a cloud to get away from the Russians.

The plane was still maneuverable, although it had a tendency to break away to the left because the steering mechanism was damaged.

I got to a cloud and stayed with it until we were about 10 miles from Tempelhof. Tempelhof was a welcome sight.

I think the Russians were trying to kill and injure passengers rather than shoot down the plane. They seemed to be making their main passes at the fuselage in order to shoot the passengers.

Pilot Tells of Attack by Russians

Little Rock, April 29 (AP) — The Southwestern States Telephone Company yesterday promised to improve service to two of the 10 cities it serves in Arkansas.

A Public Service Commission hearing on Southwestern's application to boost rates re-opened here. Company witnesses said yesterday the firm had agreed to improve service at Carlisle and Des Arc, two of the cities which have proposed the proposed rate increase.

Fayetteville, April 29 (AP) — Dr. John T. Caldwell, newly elected president of the University of Arkansas, will come here next week.

STUDENT ENGINEERS LEARN ABOUT NATURAL GAS TRANSMISSION ON TOUR OF TEXAS EASTERN STATION

Young visitors spend day inspecting modern equipment, asking questions

Nineteen student engineers recently spent a full day at Texas Eastern's Lebanon, Ohio, station seeing at first hand some practical applications of modern engineering in the transmission of natural gas.

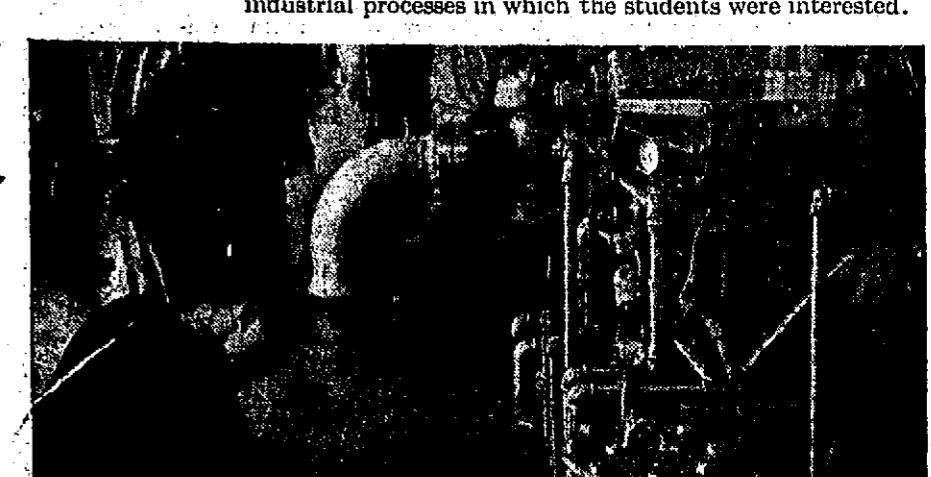

At the station, the University of Cincinnati students, selected for their scholastic standing, saw how knowledge gained in the classroom is put to work in actual pipeline operations. Notebooks in hand, they inspected pumping and pipeline equipment that moves over 740 million cubic feet of gas a day on its way to homes and industries.

Denver Patton, manager of Texas Eastern's Division 2, reported that the students were a most interested and informed group. "They asked questions about everything, examined the whole station until they knew how it worked—and why."

Things that interested them most, according to Patton, were automatic controls, centrifugal compressors, radio communications, and the trim condition of the station.

"Many of the students commented on the excellent appearance of the station and equipment," Patton said.

During recent months, teachers, business women, industry executives, students, and other community groups have visited Texas Eastern installations in learning more about the natural gas industry.

STUDENTS WERE MOST INTERESTED in the various automatic controls. Here a station operator explains how a bank of compressor units is controlled by push-buttons on a remote control panel.

Both Sides Fit Own Needs in Public Appeal

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 29 (AP) — The White House apparently thought a good public relations job was needed when the President seized the steel mills.

It started with a bang but must have stopped to pick apples.

The President laid his case before the people the night of the seizure with a ringing attack on the mill owners.

That was the White House's high-water mark in public relations in this case. The tide has been running out ever since.

The next night the steel industry produced Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Company, on TV. He blistered the President.

Neither man was exactly impartial. The President told his listeners the industry could raise wages without raising prices because, he said, it was making a profit of $19 a ton.

He neglected to say this was profit before taxes, an omission he may have regretted because Randall denounced him for it the following night in telling industry's side. But Randall didn't stick to arithmetic.

He tried a few emotional licks to win friends, such as reminding his TV audience he was a veteran of World War I, a fact which had nothing to do with the dispute and could hardly illuminate it.

Randall wasn't relying on just one speech in his bed for public opinion. He has a high-gear publicity firm which has been loading down the mailmen with Randall speeches and other things ever since.

Meanwhile, the Republicans in Congress, for various reasons which may not be altogether unconnected with politics, hopped on the President for the seizure.

And Truman's Democrats in Congress haven't done much to pull the Republicans off. Mostly they've kept their mouths shut.

So, after its first shot, things weren't going as well with the White House, in a public relations way. It flubbed its next chance. That was when the industry went to court to get the mills back.

The government lawyers filed an answer going all the way back to revolutionary days to prove the President had the right to take the mills. This answer, called a brief, takes up 69 legal-size pages.

Next the President, answering a

DeRoan
The DeRoan H.D.C. met in the home of Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood on April 14.

Mrs. Blackwood demonstrated making of Swedish tea rings, honey twists and several other delicious things which can be made from the basic sweet yeast dough. Booklets on old fashioned yeast breads in new time saving ways were distributed and enjoyed.

A short business session was held by the pres., Mrs. Orville Hoelscher. At this time $5 was voted to be given to the cancer fund.

Mrs. James Lauterbach was selected to collect the donations of sheets, pillow cases to be sent to the tornado victims.

During the recreation period Mrs. Hazel Arnett won the surprise package. Mrs. Cliff Stewart and Mrs. Arnett served delicious ice cream and cake to 15 members and 3 visitors Mrs. B. Burns, Muzette and Louise Daugherty.

Hostesses for the May meeting will be Mrs. Sue Cassidy and Mrs. Mildred Middlebrooks.

Sweet Home Club
Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood, H.D.C. met with the Sweet Home, H.D.C. on April 18 at the home of Mrs. O. L. Ward.

The meeting was called to order by the president. Devotional was given by Mrs. O. L. Ward. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. The roll was answered by the new kind of vegetable I planted this year. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A short business meeting was held. Games were played with the prizes going to Mrs. Mont Montgomery and Mrs. J. E. Ward.

The Easter Bonnet sale which was held April 11 by the Sweet Home Club was enjoyed by all present.

Refreshments were served to 16 members. The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. H. E. Nolen on May 12.

Battle Rages Over Methodist Church Plan

San Francisco, April 29 (AP) — The battle over a plan for reorganizing Methodist church administration sharpened today as the plan's leading opponent served notice he will not agree to any change in church structure.

Such changes are recommended in a survey commission report which would streamline church administration. The report is before a committee set up by the Methodist General Conference to try to iron out differences between supporters and opponents.

One recommendation — that an coordinating council will not have the broad powers envisaged by the report.

The opposition leader, Charles C.

Parlin of Englewood, N. J., told reporters creation of the council will not change church structure since it will replace the present quadrennial Committee. Parlin said what he objects to is the report's proposal that four departments be created with control over all church boards. He said he would insist that the boards be left as they are — responsible only to the general conference.

"If we feel we can't come to an agreement in committee," the New Jersey delegate declared, "this will have to come back to the floor."

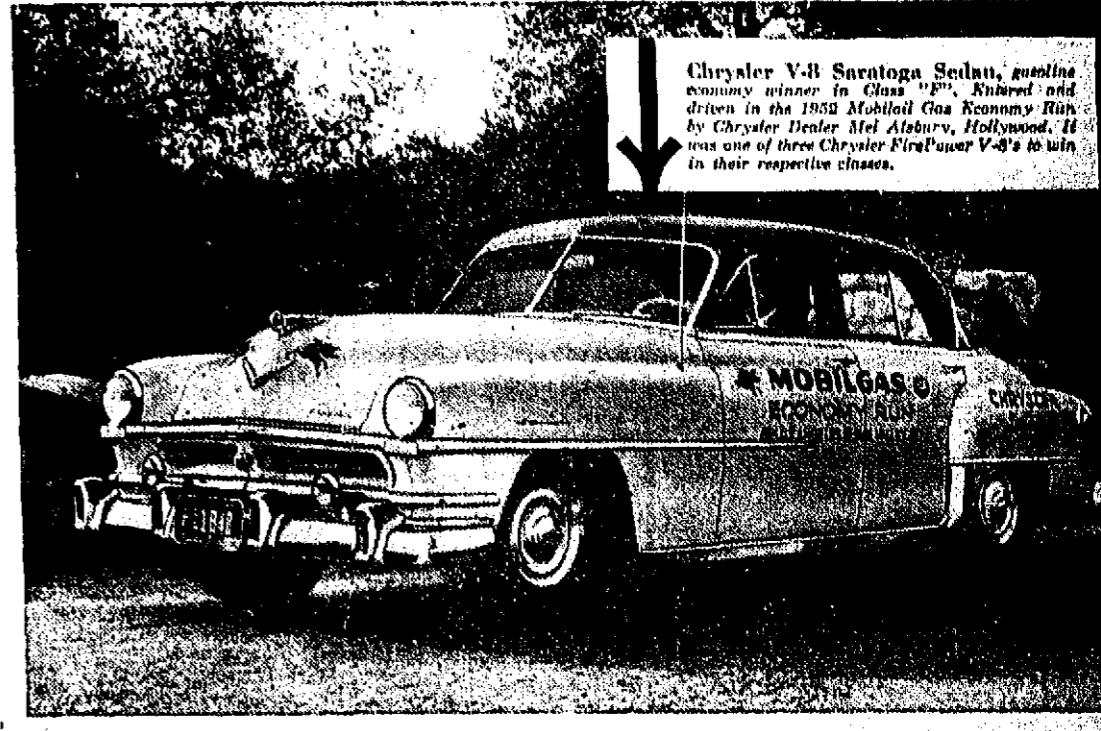

Dr. Harold Case of Boston, leader of supporters of the plan, indicated he might make a statement later today. He contends church structure should be changed to eliminate duplication and overlapping. In addition to the survey commission report, the conference is dealing with a study on reorganization of the local church. Also on the agenda today was a discussion of ecumenical relations and the movement of all churches toward a common understanding and eventual unity.

Delegate Switches
Vote to 'Ike'

Little Rock, April 29 (AP) — Arkansas delegate to the Republican National Convention, who wanted a presidential candidate who would win says he's switched his support from Sen. Robert A. Taft to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

P. A. Tengur of Berryville, Ark., said yesterday that "I'm for the man who can be elected if nominated, and right now I think that man is Gen. Eisenhower."

Tengur's decision cuts Taft's delegation in Arkansas' 11-man delegation from eight to seven, and increased Eisenhower's to thirteen. The 11th delegate has refused to state his preference. All 11 are unselected.

180 HP CHRYSLER V-8 FIRST
IN 3 CLASSES IN ECONOMY RUN!

Here is truly dramatic proof that Chrysler's great new FirePower 180 HP V-8 engine design sets an entirely new standard of efficiency among American passenger car engines.

In this annual economy test, rigidly supervised, and limited strictly to stock car entrants, cars competing are divided, by price and size, into 11 standard classes. The route, from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, covered 1,415 miles of every possible kind of driving. Average speed for all cars was just under 41 miles per hour.

And in 3 of the 11 classes, the Chrysler V-8 engine was best for gasoline mileage.

In Class "F", this magnificent new engine won first place for a Saratoga 6-passenger sedan (125 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4010 pounds). In Class "H", it won first honors for a Saratoga model 8-passenger sedan (139 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4510 pounds). And in the top price and size, Class "I", it was again first, in a Chrysler Crown Imperial Sedan (145 1/2-inch wheelbase, 5360 pounds).

To travel those substantial cars at this speed, under these conditions gives additional proof, we believe, that here in the FirePower V-8 engine we've put into an American passenger car

WE INVITE YOU TO DRIVE
THIS ENGINE, YOURSELF...

The same engine which has just scored these remarkable accomplishments is no farther from you than your own Chrysler Dealer. He will welcome the chance to let you take the wheel and feel for yourself what Chrysler has done... not only in engine performance, but in power steering, power brakes, new shock absorbers, passenger comfort... to deserve the title: "Finest Car America Has Yet Produced!"

CHRYSLER the finest car America has yet produced

Folks Object But Girl Gets Transfusion

Odessa, Tex., April 28 (AP)—A week "yes" from critically injured Grace Marie Olliff and arrest of three relatives resulted in the pretty 26-year-old divorcee's getting a blood transfusion.

Officers jailed her two Brooklyn, N. Y., brothers and her father from nearby Midland, Tex., on charges of disturbing the peace. Members of Jehovah's Witnesses, they had objected for days to the transfusion because "it would be a violation of the scriptures of the Bible to tamper with blood."

William Olliff, 51, the father and Ben, 24, and John, 27, had alternated at guarding the girl's room at the Medical Center Hospital.

They were jailed after a scuffle and loud shouting in the hospital room yesterday as attendants prepared for the first of multiple transfusions ordered by doctors.

"You're trying to kill my girl," the father shouted.

Before the transfusion, doctors said the girl was near death but rational when she gained consciousness briefly yesterday. A doctor said she answered "yes" when asked if she wanted the transfusions and "no" when asked if she were a member of Jehovah's Witnesses. Her relatives had said she was a member.

Today radio appeals were to be made for blood donations for additional transfusions.

The young woman's former husband, Clyde Wright of Odessa, obtained an injunction Wednesday restraining the three men from interfering with the transfusions. The injunction was obtained in the name of the couple's 13-month-old daughter, Clydene.

The young mother was injured April 20 in a grinding, head-on automobile crash which killed four other persons. The relatives had succeeded since that time in preventing the transfusions due to a raid were needed to keep her alive.

Summer Weather Spreading Out

By the Associated Press

More summer-like weather appeared in prospect for the central part of the country today but rain was the outlook in many other areas.

The warm and cool weather of the past few days continued over much of the Middle Atlantic states and in the New England region. Cooler weather and showers and thunderstorms moved into the Rocky Mountain states and extreme Western Plains. It was fair and cool in the Pacific Coast states.

Record temperatures for the date were set again yesterday in many Midwest cities. Top marks included 92 in Bismarck, N. D., and 91 in Wausau, Wis. Readings were in the 80s over the most of the Central states.

Most Photographed Indian Dies

Santa Fe, N. M., April 29 (AP)—One of the most photographed Indians in the nation, Joe Equibel, died yesterday. He was 55.

For the last 20 years, Joe, a San Felipe Pueblo Indian, made his headquarters at La Fonda, swank Santa Fe hotel. There he sold Indian jewelry and was a target for tourist cameras.

Ten days ago, Joe suffered a heart attack. He died in a U. S. Indian Hospital.

Walking races were popular during the last half of the 19th Century.

Kiwanis Club Entertained By Hope Club Thursday

The Kiwanis Club was well entertained Thursday by a group from the Hope Kiwanis Club. Mr. Lyle Brown was in charge assisted by Ralph Johnson who had a group of teen-age boys from the eleventh grade of the Hope High School.

They spoke on the different phases of our Foreign Policy. It was surprising the knowledge these boys had and the manner in which they presented it to the club. After their talk they were subjected to questions from the club members all of which they answered in a very understanding way. The club was well pleased and it is hoped that they will come again.

The boys were Jack Jones, Robert Powers, Roy Snyders and Bill Gentry. You can rest assured these boys will be A-1 citizens and will be among those you will find in the headlines as doing something for their country.

Strike Notices Sent to Four Refineries

Tulsa, Okla., April 29 (AP)— Notices have been sent to officials of four refineries in this area of an oil workers strike to start at 12:01 a. m. Wednesday.

They were sent by the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) to the Texas Company's plant here, Cities Service Oil Company at Ponca City, Tide Water Associated Oil Company at Drumright and the Deep Rock Oil Corporation at Cushing.

The notices pave the way for approximately 1,500 employees to join the threatened nation-wide walkout.

The plants are the same four the union struck for strike early in March before the strike was postponed.

Shirley Temple Has a Son

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Shirley Temple, one time child star of the movies who now is Mrs. Charles Black, became the mother of a 6-pound, 12-ounce son yesterday.

The father, Lt. Cmdr. Black, is a Naval Reserve officer now on active duty here. This is their first child. Miss Temple also has a daughter, 3, by an earlier marriage to John Agar, Jr.

quietly today.

Because the imperial family is in mourning for the late Empress Dowager, no official event marked the anniversary.

MAKE-UP WON'T HIDE CALENDAR LOOK

But this scientific way may avoid showing monthly "nerves"!
All the make-up in the world can't take that drawn, nervous look out of your eyes each month. But here's a way to do it. It's a special make-up for women who suffer from calendar misery, nervousness and tension. It's a special make-up that helps build strength and resistance to monthly nerves. So, after a time, many women feel no monthly nerves. They sleep better, look better, feel better, have better health. Ask your dealer for Cardul. (Say, "card-you-eye").
